

Let's Get Along

Everyone's life is different,

We go through stages from young to old.

But the time when we start to learn about life,

Is the stage of being a teenager.

I never knew other people felt pain almost everyday

Until I read news about teens being slain

And until one of those teens

Was a classmate of mine.

I had a dream of a better life

Where teens can enjoy days without fear.

No violence will threaten their peace

Just making friends and enjoying activities.

To have a better community

We need to go back to the basics

Let's live by the Golden Rule:

Do unto others as you would have them do unto you.